In response to the ever increasing interests and technological developments, the Steering and Organizing Committee are pleased to welcome you to the International Conference on Control, Engineering & Information Technology (CEIT'2015) which will be held on 25-27 May, 2015 in Tlemcen, Algeria. CEIT'2015 will provide an excellent international forum for sharing knowledge and results in theory, methodology and applications of Control, Engineering and Information Technology.

The CEIT'15 will be held at auditorium of the faculty of medicine, University of Tlemcen. Tlemcen is a town in northwestern Algeria, and the capital of the province of the same name. It is located inland in the center of a region known for its olive plantations and vineyards.

Its centuries of rich history and culture have made the city a center of a unique blend of music and art. Its textiles and handcrafts, its elegant blend of Arabic, Islamic, Berber, and Andalucian cultures, and its cool climate in the mountains have made it an important center of tourism in Algeria. It is home to a beautiful tomb - that of Sidi Boumédiène, whose tomb adjoins to a mosque. The Great Mosque at Tlemcen was completed in 1136 and is said to be the most remarkable remaining example of Almoravid architecture.
